

Tech Supplies Buying Group

January 15, 2007

To Whom it May Concern:

Justin is a fine candidate for your current technology opening. He has proven himself to be a competent and progressive technology innovator on many occasions.

In addition, he has demonstrated an ability to work in an unsupervised manner while exceeding expectations on a regular basis. Above all, he has maintained a very optimistic and realistic view of the new products and ideas that are brought to PRC Technologies for future use.

I believe Justin could step into any technology program and manage it efficiently and progressively. He arrived here from a Technology Directorship held in high regard by his counterparts around the state and has quickly gained respect among his PRC Technologies colleagues.

Lastly, he has maintained a pleasant attitude that has made him a pleasure to work with.

Sincerely
